New Jersey Pen Inmates Free Pair Of Hostages

BORDENTOWN, N.J. (AP) — The two hostages held by 100 rebellious inmates at the Yardville Correction Center were released this morning after inmate grievances were broadcast on a local radio station, Gov. William T. Cahill announced.

The grievances alleged that an inmate had been hospitalized after being subjected to "the fascist tactics of police brutality."

The prisoners, in their statement, asked that the incident be investigated "by someone other than this institutional administration."

No details of the incident were available.

The prisoners controlled one wing of the prison while 50 helmeted state policemen and other officers, armed with shotguns, were stationed inside the prison during negotiations between the state and the inmates.

G. Thomas Durand, public information officer for the State Department of Institutions and Agencies, said no ransom demand had been made for the release of the hostages before the statement was made.

Durand said the hostages, Richard A. Seidl, 30, assistant superintendent, and Ira Friedman, 31, a guard, were believed to be uninjured. Friedman's wife, weeping as she entered the prison, arrived just before midnight.

Durand refused to say how the insurrection started. It came on the heels of the Thanksgiving takeover at Rahway State Prison in which seven hostages were taken. All were released and the trouble ended after state officials agreed to hear prisoner demands.

Associated Press newsmen Carl Zeitz was summoned inside Yardville prison by officials Wednesday night.

Zeitz, one of three newsmen who also entered Rahway State Prison during the riot there, was later joined by Bill Coombe, a newsmen for United Press International.

Officials temporarily barred the newsmen from making detailed statements on the situation. But in a call to the AP early today, Zeitz said, "Don't be surprised if it lasts a few more hours. That's the way it looks to me."

Durand said the disturbance, which began about 1 p.m. Wednesday, was confined to the south wing of the 10 wing institution for youthful offenders. Property damage was minimal, he said.

State officials describe Yardville as a model prison, which holds 714 inmates ranging in age from 15 to 30.

It stands out on landscaped grounds in a rural area of South Jersey and is a modern, circular shaped prison cited for its emphasis on education and vocational training programs for youthful offenders.

Essex Meets With Local School Chiefs

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — State School Supt. Martin Essex was to meet today with local school superintendents from around the state to explain education provisions of the new state budget.

The budget provides a record $1.49 billion for public schools, which Essex has said will finance "a major redesign of education in Ohio."

A spokesman for Essex said the superintendent would explain the formula for computation of school foundation payments under the new bill so local officials could begin planning for next year.

Highlights of the new schools budget include: —Increasing the guaranteed per pupil expenditure for schools in poorer districts from $400 to $600.

—Granting "municipal overburden" payments to large districts with substantial percentages of "disadvantaged" students.

—A sliding scale for school foundation payments that will tend to equalize educational opportunities in rich and poor districts.

Lennon spoke with newsmen after he and his wife attended a luncheon for Thant sponsored by the World Federalists.

India, West Pakistan Continue Fighting

East Pakistan Army Quits

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Pakistan's army in East Pakistan surrendered unconditionally today and Indian soldiers marched triumphantly into Dacca, the provincial capital.

Announcing India's victory in the 12-day war, Prime Minister Indira Gandhi declared that "Dacca is now the free capital of a free country," referring to Bangla Desh, as the Bengalis call East Pakistan.

The end of the war in the east did not appear to signal any cease-fire on the western front, 1,000 miles across India. An Indian spokesman said the biggest tank battle of the war had been fought on that front in the past 24 hours.

The prime minister said the surrender was signed in Dacca, East Pakistan's capital, at 4:31 p.m.—6:01 a.m. EST—by Lt. Gen. A.A.K. Niazi, the commander of the estimated 80,000 Pakistani troops in the province.

The surrender was received, she said, by Lt. Gen. J.S. Aurora, the commander of India's eastern command, who flew to Dacca this afternoon.

As Mrs. Gandhi spoke in Parliament, Radio Pakistan announced that fighting had stopped in East Pakistan following an agreement between the local Indian and Pakistani commanders. Monitors said the broadcast, in the Urdu language, made no mention of surrender.

Niazi surrendered nearly 24 hours after India gave him an ultimatum to quit and suspended bombing of the East Pakistani capital.

Half an hour before the ultimatum expired this morning, the Pakistani commander asked for an extension and for an Indian staff officer to come to Dacca to discuss the surrender.

The Indians dispatched the chief of staff of the Eastern Command, Maj. Gen. J. F. R.

Jacob, with instructions to give Niazi until 5 p.m. to give up.

Gen. Aurora followed a few hours later.

Meanwhile, Indian troops had entered Dacca, at 10:48 a.m., Mrs. Gandhi told Parliament earlier today. She said one of Niazi's subordinates, Maj. Gen. Mohammed Jamshed of the 36th Pakistani Division, surrendered to them.

"The Indian armed forces will not remain in Bangla Desh longer than they are needed," Mrs. Gandhi declared.

The Indian parliament erupted with cheers and desk pounding when Mrs. Gandhi read her one-minute statement, just as it did last week when the 54-year-old prime minister announced that India had recognized the People's Republic of Bangla Desh.

Indian troops invaded East Pakistan on the night of Dec. 3-4 with the declared aim of helping

Henderson Jury Deliberations Get Under Way

Military Judge Reads Instructions To 7-Man Panel

FT. MEADE, Md. (AP) — After 3½ months of trial, 106 witnesses and thousands of pages of testimony, the jury today will begin debating the guilt or innocence of Col. Oran K. Henderson on charges of covering up the My Lai massacre.

The two generals and five colonels on the jury will be sent into seclusion after the military judge, Col. Peter S. Wondolowski, reads from a detailed list of instructions on the legal issues in the case.

It was the sixth time a military panel was asked to tackle the issue of My Lai and involves the last such charges on file.

While other trials involved responsibility for the slayings, the Henderson court-martial dealt with the break in the chain of command that kept word of the deaths at My Lai from reaching Army headquarters for a year.

Henderson is charged with dereliction of duty in failing to conduct an adequate investigation of reports that civilians were killed in the attack on March 16, 1968. He also is charged with not reporting a war crime to his division commander and with making a false statement under oath when questioned about My Lai at a Pentagon inquiry.

Henderson faces a maximum sentence of 39 months in prison upon conviction of all charges, the term set by the jury in later deliberations. Both a guilty verdict and sentence go automatically to a lengthy review process.

Henderson is the highest ranking officer to be put on trial as a result of My Lai. In the five previous trials one man, Lt. William Calley Jr., was convicted. His life sentence on conviction earlier this year of murdering 22 Vietnamese civilians has been reduced to 20 years and is still undergoing appeals.

Miami U Keeps To Tight Budget

OXFORD, Ohio (AP) — Miami University reported today it will continue to operate on a "tight budget" through the 1971-73 biennium because the new state budget and tax bill will have little effect on its operations.

Dr. Phillip R. Shriver, president of Miami, said that while higher education will receive $122 million more for this biennium than for the last, Miami's share will be less than $700,000 for the main Oxford campus.

The extent to which the Midwestern and Hamilton campuses share will be known later.

Kerner Indictment Follows Lengthy Probe

CHICAGO (AP) — The indictment of Federal Judge Otto Kerner, former governor of Illinois, stems from a lengthy investigation into alleged stock misdealings between race track operators and a number of one-time state officials.

Kerner, a 63-year-old Democrat who headed the National Advisory Commission on Civil Disorders in 1967, was accused in a federal grand jury indictment returned Wednesday of allegedly sharing in the profits of $350,000 worth of racing stock allegedly purchased for $70,000. He asked for and was granted relief from his activities on the 7th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals.

Three former state officials appointed by Kerner during his two gubernatorial terms from 1960 to 1968 and a Chicago businesswoman also were indicted.

The grand jury charged that the racing shares were made available to Kerner and others to gain favorable racing dates.

Government officials said the investigation into Kerner's race track stock began nearly two years ago.

Kerner, a longtime political figure here and close confidant of Chicago Mayor Richard J. Daley, resigned as governor on March 20, 1968, to accept a lifetime appointment on the appeals court.

Fecteau Tells Of Lonesome Imprisonment

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Standing erect in front of a Christmas tree, hands clasped, his voice low and often inaudible, Richard Fecteau told of the lonely 19 years he spent in a Communist Chinese prison.

"I was alone so long," Fecteau said Wednesday.

Because of this, the 43-year-old Fecteau said he now found it difficult to meet and speak with people.

Fecteau, an Army civilian employee who spent half of his 19 years imprisonment in solitary, held his first meeting with newsmen since he and Mary Ann Harbert were released Monday in Hong Kong.

Miss Harbert, 25, of Palo Alto, Calif., who spent more than three years in prison in China and had been given up for dead by her parents, said she would speak with newsmen today.

Previously she posed for photographs but had refused to answer questions.

But Polly Harbert, her mother, said that during a tearful telephone conversation Wednesday that Mary Ann said she wants some new dresses, but absolutely no slacks.

"I guess she's been wearing pants in China. Wouldn't you assume that?"

Miss Harbert and Fecteau both are awaiting final results of medical tests at nearby Valley Forge Medical Center and Hospital where they were taken Tuesday on their arrival on the U.S. mainland after a 27-hour flight from Hong Kong.

Indicted with Kerner were Theodore J. Isaacs, 61, Illinois state revenue director from 1961 to 1963; William S. Miller, 70, chairman of the Illinois Racing Board from 1961 to 1967; Faith McInturf, 58, Miller's former personal secretary, and 60-year-old Joseph Knight, director of the state Banking Department from 1962 to 1968.

The indictments charged that Miller persuaded Marjorie Everett, former principal stockholder in Chicago Thoroughbred Enterprises, to make available to Kerner and Isaacs 50 shares of CTE valued at $300,000 for $59,958.

The government charges that Mrs. McInturf, through Knight, loaned $40,000 to Isaacs and Kerner to buy the stock.

Miller later arranged for Kerner and Isaacs to obtain 28,000 shares of Chicago Harness Racing, Inc., stock for $11,200, the indictment charges. The stock was valued at $56,000 and the profit allegedly was used to repay Mrs. McInturf.

The grand jury said Kerner and Isaacs later sold their racing shares for $300,000, which they divided. Kerner and Isaacs were charged with evading 1966 income taxes by omitting taxable income of $147,400 and $147,200 respectively.

Kerner was named in 17 counts of the indictment, including one of perjury, one of tax evasion, one of filing a false income-tax return and one of making false statements to Internal Revenue Service agents.

Isaacs was charged with tax evasion and filing a false return.

All the defendants were charged with mail fraud and use of interstate facilities to promote bribery and conspiracy.

Four Arrested In Shooting On Main St.

A domestic quarrel erupted into a shooting fracas on West Main St. 6:03 p.m. Wednesday and resulted in the arrest of a 41-year-old Jackson woman and three other participants by city police.

Ruby May Wolford was arrested by Patrolmen Jerry Keller and Francis Smallwood on charges of carrying a concealed weapon and shooting a firearm after she allegedly took a shot at an automobile. She pled not guilty in municipal court this morning and the case was continued to Dec. 29.

Also arrested were Oliver Leonard Wolford and Edison Fizer on disorderly conduct charges and Wanda Fizer on a delinquent child charge. All three posted bond and were released.

The city patrolmen answered a call concerning an altercation in front of 159½ W. Main St. and were informed by a bystander that the Wolford woman had fired a shot at a car.

A search of her purse turned up a .22 caliber pistol and all four persons involved were taken into custody.

Jail Sentences Imposed In Strike

IRONTON, Ohio (AP) — Ten-day jail terms have been imposed by Common Pleas Court Judge Warren Earhart on three Ironton men found guilty of contempt of court for violating an injunction during the now-ended Dayton Malleable Iron Co. strike.

The three sentenced were Robert Shope, Robert Deeds and William Webb. They are scheduled to begin their sentence Dec. 26.

Contempt charges against nine other workers were dismissed. The court injunction had prohibited pickets from interfering with persons entering or leaving the plant.

Ohio Assembly Recesses: Faces Remap On Return

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A weary 109th General Assembly recessed for the year late Wednesday with a flurry of activity that included final legislative approval of Ohio's first state income tax.

Both House Speaker Charles Kurfess, R-4 Perryssburg, and Lt. Gov. John Brown, presiding officer of the Senate, signed the bill calling for a .5 to 3.5 percent personal income tax and a 4 to 8 percent corporation tax.

It becomes effective Jan. 1.

The legislature is to reconvene Jan. 12, with a possible Jan. 5 floor session due in the House if a compromise measure on redrawing Ohio's 23 congressional districts is recommended out of committee by that time.

Both the Republican and Democrats introduced congressional redistricting plans at the beginning of Wednesday's marathon session.

House Minority Leader A. G. Lancione, D-30 Bellaire, emphasized the final plan would be a compromise or the issue will be settled by the courts.

Both houses finalized several bills that bounced between them during the night for concurrence on the part of one body or the other in minor changes.

Among those getting a final okay were: —An election reform measure that brings Ohio law into line with federal court rulings and would permit 18-year-old college students to vote in the towns where they go to school providing they meet two state requirements—living within the state for six months and residing within the precinct for 40 days.

A similar measure was vetoed by Gov. John Gilligan because it included questions boards of elections could ask possible voters about their plans to establish their voting residency as their permanent residence.

Gilligan said the provision was constitutional and House-Senate conferees omitted it from the compromise.

A bill to expand the authority of the Air Pollution Control Board to bring it in line with federal law. It includes a provision permitting an increase in fines from $500 to $10,000 per day for industries violating pollution laws.

—Legislation increasing benefits for members of the public employees, school teachers and school employees retirement funds who retired after July 1, 1971. The increase would vary depending on years of service and cost the state an estimated $11 million over the biennium.

British School Runaway Turns Up At Tampa Airport

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — A 15-year-old boy found wandering in the terminal of Tampa International Airport Wednesday says he's a runaway from a British boarding school.

The youth, identified by juvenile authorities as Phillip Davison of Coventry, England, told police he stowed away on a British Overseas Airways flight from London to New York City late Monday.

Davison said he then sneaked aboard a National Airlines plane bound for Tampa, juvenile officials said.

Airport guards stopped Davison for questioning in the terminal but, according to one officer, "he changed his story several times" and was turned over to police.

Authorities did not disclose how long the youth had wandered about the terminal, nor what roused their suspicions. In Coventry, police said Davison was listed missing from a boys' home there and called him a "real adventurer."

The boy took off about a month ago on another excursion and turned up in Switzerland, Coventry police said.

Juvenile officers said the slightly built youngster with a thick British accent told them he ran away from a school in Gilwern, Wales.

A. W. Alexander, a Florida Division of Youth Services counselor, said late Wednesday it had not yet been determined how the boy managed to stow away twice, if he actually did. Once the story is pieced together Alexander said and "if it checks out to be correct" the youth will be turned over to immigration officials to be returned home.

"If the account is incorrect, we'll have to start at the beginning," he added.

Stock List Up Sharply

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock market prices rallied strongly for the second session today as investors anticipated some settlement on the international monetary front. Trading was very active.

The noon Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks gained 9.28 to 873.04.

Advances led declines by more than 3 to 1 on the New York Stock Exchange.

Analysts said investors were encouraged by signs of progress toward an international monetary agreement and by the improving economy. They also noted investors were pleased by the market's ability to overcome profit-taking pressures and move upward again in Wednesday's trading.

Cuban Exile Ship Captured By Gunboat Off Bahamas

MIAMI (AP) — A Cuban exile-owned freighter, crippled by fire from a Cuban gunboat, was under tow toward the Communist island today following a bloody attack on the high seas.

"The deck is covered with blood. I am dying . . ." the freighter's captain, 55-year-old Jose Villa, said in a final and desperate radio message received here Wednesday.

"Tell the Coast Guard to come quickly," Villa said. "Tell them there are dead and wounded here."

The Johnny Express was the second ship owned by Bahama Lines of Miami—a firm operated by Cuban exiles — to be seized by Cuba in 10 days.

A Bahama Lines official said the Johnny Express had been taken in tow by Cuban patrol boats about 118 miles north of the island's east coast.

"It is on its way to Cuba by force," the spoke man said. "It is piracy and no one will do anything to help us."

The Johnny Express had a crew of 14, including two American citizens, according to Bahama Lines. It is the sister ship of the Lyla Express, which was seized Dec. 5 and taken to Cuba.

U.S. Coast Guard spokesman Ron Wright said planes with medics were dispatched purely on a humanitarian mission in efforts to provide medical aid for the crew and "we can't get involved in the fight." The planes were unable to find the Johnny Express.

A spokesman added that the ship was of Panamanian registry and not in U.S. waters when attacked so "our hands are tied."

The plight of the ship became known Wednesday when Bahama Lines received a distress signal. The Johnny Express, like the Lyla Express, had been returning from a run to Haiti. It was attacked about two miles off the coast of Little Inagua in the Bahamas.

Bahama Lines radio operator Francisco Blanco said Villa told him the Johnny Express was being pursued by a Cuban gunboat. As the office struggled to stay in contact with the ship, Villa later reported the Johnny Express was under fire and was being rammed by the gunboat.

"They are shooting at us from close range," Villa said in one message.

"Tell them they are finishing the boat off. Tell the Coast Guard they are finishing us. Tell them to come get the wounded."

Connally To Resume Drive For Monetary Agreement

By DONALD SANDERS
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Likened to a Texas steamroller after his last appearance on the world financial stage, John B. Connally resumes his trail boss job Friday in the U.S. drive to rearrange international monetary affairs.

Connally left foreign colleagues to off-the-record mutterings about Texas cowboys after his bravura performance at a meeting of financial leaders early this month.

In a surprise move, the Treasury secretary let it become abundantly evident in sessions at Rome's Palazzo Corsini that the United States was willing to undertake the previously unthinkable: devalue the dollar.

President Nixon's announcement Tuesday of his willingness to do so had been clearly foreshadowed by Connally dealings.

Connally, a Lyndon Baines Johnson protégé in the often Texas politics, "would be better sticking to his guns and lasso," said one European governmental source after the Rome meeting.

"If Connally hadn't acted like a Texas steamroller in Rome," said another, "the Europeans probably wouldn't have formed a common front as quickly as they did."

Whether the Europeans have indeed formed a common front before U.S. monetary moves may become known Friday when the finance ministers and central bankers from the Group of 10, the world's richest industrial nations, assemble here to tackle again the knotty problems of world finance.

For Connally, the meeting is another step in a career that has included being governor of Texas, secretary of the Navy for John F. Kennedy and attorney for the enterprises of the late super-rich oilman, Sid Richardson.

Since he took office a year ago, Connally has been highly visible on the domestic economic front, as Nixon's officially designated chief economic spokesman and No. 1 Democrat on the administration team.

But among those concerned with international finance, he has been equally visible.

At Rome, Connally had one advantage aside from his own poker-player talent as a negotiator. He was chairman of the sessions.

Paul West, 14, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ted West, 595 Edgewood Drive, has been a carrier of The Herald for nearly a year.

Paul, or Ork as he prefers to be called by his fellow carriers, is a ninth grader at Circleville Junior High School where he is a straight A student.

His route includes parts of Cedar Heights, Sunshine, Lynwood and Georgia Road and he has 106 customers.

He uses the money he earns for a savings account and to finance his personal needs. He is a member of a cassette club and receives tapes at regular intervals.

His main hobby is spelunking (exploring caves) and he also has a coin collection.

Paul is a member of the Circleville Swim Team and the Science Club.

He is a member of St. Joseph's Catholic Church.

Time Near For Aliens To Register

R. W. Ahern, District Director of the Immigration and Naturalization Service stated that certain aliens in the United States will be required to report their addresses to the Attorney General in the near future.

All aliens, with few exceptions, who are in the United States on January 1, each year must report their addresses by the end of the month. The following classes of aliens are excused from this requirement: (1) Accredited Diplomats; and (2) Persons accredited to certain international organizations.

The reports are to be made on forms obtained at any Post Office or Immigration and Naturalization Service Office during the month of January.

Ahern advised that the law provides severe penalties for failure to comply with the reporting requirements.

Soybean School Slated Friday

All Pickaway County soybean producers are invited to attend a Soybean Production School this Friday. The program will be held in the Flower Building at the Pickaway County Fairgrounds.

Many approved practices for soybean production will be discussed during the program that will begin at 10 a.m. and adjourn at about 3 p.m.

Some of the subjects to be discussed are: soil testing and fertilizer for soybean profit, new soybean varieties, experience from double cropping soybeans after wheat, soybean herbicides, what's new in soybean row width, plant population, planting date, and what's the outlook for 1972.

Everyone is invited to attend.

HHH To Play Waiting Game In Primaries

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—Sen. Hubert Humphrey, D-Minn., says he is waiting to see the results of the Florida and Wisconsin presidential primaries before deciding whether to run in Ohio and California.

"I must do well in the preliminaries if I hope to enter the main bouts," the former vice president said Tuesday.

Humphrey spoke to about 100 newsmen and well-wishers upon his arrival at the Toledo airport en route to Bowling Green for a hearing by his Rural Development Subcommittee.

He said he had made "no formal declaration of candidacy" for the 1972 presidential nomination, but would leave his name on the Florida and Wisconsin ballots.

In the two states, election laws require a candidate who removes his name from the ballot to sign a statement he will not re-enter the national race later on.

Humphrey hinted he might campaign in Florida and Wisconsin. "If my name is left on the ballot, then I certainly have a responsibility," he said.

Humphrey said he did not plan to discuss politics with Gov. John Gilligan during his brief Ohio stay. Gilligan was one of the witnesses before the subcommittee.

Gilligan has indicated he will take a favorite son delegation to the national convention. He has not endorsed a Democratic presidential hopeful.

"I don't know what he's (Gilligan) going to do," Humphrey said, "but most politicians line up where they think the winner will be."

High Court Clarifies Tax Ruling

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio Supreme Court said Thursday it wanted to make clear it had never decided what the percentage should be in property tax assessments.

The court issued a clarifying statement, apparently to offset reports it had made such a determination in the case of Park Investment Co. of Cleveland versus the Ohio Board of Tax Appeals. It was decided June 2 of this year.

"The Ohio Constitution provides that 'land and the improvements thereon shall be taxed by uniform rule according to value,'" the high court said.

"The court held that provision means what it says and that, therefore, any percentage of true value which the Board of Tax Appeals decides should be the assessed value for tax purposes must be applied equally and uniformly to all real estate taxpayers and to all kinds of real estate for tax purposes.

"The court did not decide what the percentage should be."

The court noted that the legislature has provided by law that it should not be more than 50 per cent.

The board, after a recent public hearing, is still studying a decision on its proposal to establish a uniform rate of 40 per cent of the true value of the property to be assessed.

The Olympic games in Munich will begin next Aug. 26.

Signs Updated

What might be called a landmark decision has come out of the National Transportation Safety Board in Washington.

A sign that says, "slippery when wet," says the board, is "an inadequate substitute for correction of conditions."

The board was reporting on the causes of a seven-death bus crash two summers ago in Pennsylvania. Accidents were a dime-a-dozen at that location when a sign said, "slippery when wet."

But now accidents are rare because the sign has been taken down and the slippery condition corrected with grooves cut in the pavement.

Home owners have known for a long time that a "keep out" sign is an inadequate substitute for a lock on the door, and a "no trespassing" sign is an inadequate substitute for barbed wire across the top of the fence.

But now that there is legal backing for the principle that an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of warning signs, the probable ramifications are legion. For example:

A "fasten seat belts sign" is a very inadequate replacement for a shapely stewardess reaching across your middle to do it for you.

The AAA sticker that offers $200 reward for conviction of anyone stealing a member's car is an inadequate substitute for taking the key out of the ignition switch.

A "tow away zone" enforced only by $20 tickets is an inadequate substitute for hauling away cars that block one lane during a rush hour.

"Beware of dog" signs are an inadequate substitute for keeping an animal well fed, tied up or both.

Infrasounds, Yet

Infrasounds and low-frequency vibrations may sound like one contemporary scientific concern not related to the automobile, but it is not. A conference of the British Acoustical Society spent considerable time discussing the relationship between infrasounds and automotive safety, and much of what was said was not good.

Infrasound was defined as noise with frequency below 32 cycles per second. Most intense infrasounds — such as created in an automobile traveling superhighway speeds — are felt rather than heard.

Some scientists at the conference said their studies indicated infrasounds under some driving conditions approach noise levels as high as 120 decibels. This is close to the level at which the ear's balance mechanism is affected, and there were suggestions that recklessness and euphoria could result.

Mention also was made of tests which indicated noise levels present under ordinary driving conditions could reduce a driver's reaction time 20 to 30 per cent. Something to remember the next time a passenger wants the radio turned up high enough for the car in front.

New Shopping List

Buying habits of the average family presumably change in 10 years. If they have changed significantly, the government's method of measuring wholesale and consumer price indices may be out of kilter. It aims to find out next year.

A decade has passed since the law survey was made by the Bureau of Labor Statistics of what Americans are buying in goods and services and where they are making their purchases. This "market basket" list is used monthly pricing the indices.

Next year, the buying habits of 17,000 families will be surveyed, not once as in prior studies but four times during the year. The question is whether a family knowing someone is watching over its shoulder when it does its buying is going to be influenced in its purchasing decisions.

If some silly items begin showing up on the bureau's shopping list, someone's leg is being pulled.

The Business World

By JOHN CUNIFF

NEW YORK (AP) — High corporate executives sometimes use the final months before retirement to express their deep beliefs or to leave a lasting impact on matters they consider of great national importance.

James M. Roche, who leaves the chairmanship of General Motors, the world's biggest manufacturer, at the end of this month, is deeply concerned about productivity.

In an article for members of the National Association of Manufacturers, Roche observed that over the past five years output per manhour increased at an average annual rate of only 2.1 per cent in the United States.

This rate, he said, was the lowest of any of the 11 leading industrial countries. The comparable figure for West Germany was 5.3 per cent, for Sweden 17.9, Switzerland 6.2 and Japan 14.2.

In contrast, he said, hourly compensation in the same period rose 6 per cent a year in the United States, which meant that unit labor costs rose 3.9 per cent a year compared with 3.2 in Germany, 2.5 in Sweden, less than one per cent in Japan and no change in Switzerland.

Horoscope Forecast

By Carroll Righter

FRIDAY'S HOROSCOPE

GENERAL TENDENCIES:

You certainly get yourself into a real mess today or tonight if you take chances in any way or do not act with restraint and patience. Look for some tiresome tasks to do, or some studies that will round out your information so you can be more successful at a later date when greater opportunities arise.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Yesterday was fine for putting a new plan in operation, but now you have to get into the details of such. New contacts must not be accepted immediately; wait until you know them better. Read some tonight.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) You feel like reneging on some responsibility you have willingly assumed, but this would cause you to lose prestige and profit. Don't be too demanding with mate, or there is trouble. Use diplomacy instead.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Don't get into further discussions with associates now or you could spoil the fine plans previously made. Make sure you carry through with every promise you have made. Handle finances well.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) If you are critical of co-workers you gain only their ire which could be quite dangerous. Show that you are cooperative instead. Thoughtfulness shown to close ties brings fine results.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) You had better get to work on duties that are important instead of trying to continue with the fun you had yesterday. If you try to force your attentions on one who charms you, you lose out. Be happy with progress already made.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Some controversial subject could lead to a big argument at home, so take care you do not start one. Get busy and handle some important matter early. Make little improvements around the house.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Take care you are not careless in driving or in motion of any kind and then you can avoid an accident. Try not to argue or lose your temper. Keep an eye on your wallet while shopping.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) There are certain things you want that cannot be bought with money, so use ethical means and they are yours. Do not put off any repairs to property that could be more costly later on. Get them done now.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) You had better be tactful instead of blunt with others, or you could get yourself into a peck of trouble. Do not offer advice unless it is asked for. Steer clear of the social affairs in p.m. where arguments could develop.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) There are some limitations you have to get rid of today so that you do not have trouble with a valuable associate. Try to be of help to friends who are having rough sledding. Forget own woes that way.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Don't take over any other person's problem, or you will have grief for your pains. However, do nothing that can irritate one who is in a prominent position. This is not a good day for lavish entertaining. Stick to whatever is of a practical nature.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Put aside those worldly matters for a day or so since others are in a mood to criticize and you would only have disappointments now. Get your desk cleared for bigger things ahead. Make more preparations for the coming holidays.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN

TODAY . . . he or she will be one of those most attractive young people who wants to run things all the time, so be sure to teach early to cooperate more with others for best results during the lifetime. Otherwise this child could make and lose friends very fast. Ideal chart for precision work, using computers, laboring with electronics, inventions and the like, whether male or female. A good family man, woman in this chart. Sports are fine.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

I have become increasingly short of breath, especially when walking upstairs, or with the slightest exertion.

Other than that, I feel I am in perfect health. Is this unusual at the age of 46?

Mr. H.S.T., Minn.

Dear Mr. T.: The key word in your question probably is the word "feel"

Actually, you are assuming that you are in good health without the benefit of having it confirmed by physical examination.

Breathlessness at any adult age may be the result of one or more factors that should be eliminated before the problem becomes progressively worse.

The heart, the lungs and the circulatory system are the three most common body systems involved in difficult breathing, or "dyspnea."

At the age of 46, it would not be unusual for you to become breathless if you ran upstairs two steps at a time, or made a mad dash for a bus.

This might even occur to people who are in excellent physical condition and who do regular exercise.

But breathlessness with slight exertion may indicate that you are not as healthy as you presume to be.

Chronic bronchitis, emphysema, obesity, tobacco, asthma, and heart conditions are the dominant reasons for long-continued shortness of breath.

High altitudes may cause the same symptoms before one adjusts to them.

It is obvious that before any treatment for this condition can be instituted, the exact cause must be traced. There are now many methods by which the vital capacity of the lungs, the heart and the blood circulatory system can be studied.

To allow breathlessness to go on without such investigation exposes you to the possibility of unnecessary complications of a condition that might well be remedied.

Our three-year old child sleeps with her mouth open and snores like an adult.

Can this be caused by an infection of the sinuses?

Mrs. V.G.F., Del.

Dear Mrs. F.: Infection of the sinuses can occur in infants and very young children, but it is most unusual.

The greater likelihood is that your child probably is burdened by a large mass of obstructing adenoids.

Nasal allergy is another possibility, but less likely.

X-rays of the sinuses can rule out infection within them. Cold or warm vapor mist, especially in overheated rooms, may be beneficial.

The need for the removal of the adenoids depends on the presence of repeated infections.

Dump Nixon

By JEFFERY HART

In a recent column I reported on the case a great many conservatives are making against a second term for President Nixon. According to those arguments, it now seems likely that a conservative Republican will run against Nixon in New Hampshire. But what answer can be made to the points the rebelling conservatives are putting forward?

1) It is by no means certain, to say the least, that the Supreme Court nominees of Humphrey, Muskie or Kennedy would be about as acceptable as Nixon's. After all, from LBJ we got Thurgood Marshall — a knee-jerk liberal — and we almost got Abe Fortas as Chief Justice. The Supreme Court is a vital battleground, and there Nixon has been resolute.

2) On civil disruption Nixon and his Justice Department have been excellent. Mitchell and Kleindienst took a firm stand on the May Day disruptions, and the underground has been relentlessly harassed. Ask the Berrigans. With great ingenuity, Federal prosecutors have been using the grand jury system to keep maximum heat on the would-be revolutionaries. Conservatives can take great comfort from a glance at the liberal journals like the New Republic and from radical ones like the New York Review of Books or Ramparts. The screams there are deafening. The Left is under no illusions about the Administration's intentions.

3) At the beginning of a Tale of a Tub, Jonathan Swift tells about the barrel sailors used to throw overboard to distract a hostile whale. In my opinion, both Nixon's economic controls and his Family Assistance Plan are barrels. At the time he instituted the economic controls, Nixon was under intense pressure from the Democrats on the economic issue. His earlier "game plan" was making headway against inflation, but not nearly enough to be politically visible. Sen. George McGovern had dropped the war as an issue and was hammering away at the economic issue. Nixon himself told me that the Republicans are peculiarly vulnerable on the economic issue: memories of the Depression linger. Therefore his new economic ploy, which has completely defused the issue. The beauty of the ploy is that so little of the economy has really come under control, and that, doubtless, on a temporary basis.

What about FAP, which justifiably outrages conservatives? Another barrel, I think.

During the 1968 campaign, Nixon tossed out a barrel in the form of a proposal for a "new coalition." It supposedly would consist of all who desired freedom from government interference: states' rights, black-power types, free-market businessmen, do-your-thing youth. No sophisticate, least of all Nixon, took the idea seriously at all. It was purely diversionary, something for the pundits to write about.

FAP is surely another such "fascinating idea," and it helps keep some otherwise anti-Administration political groupings at least partly demobilized. Nevertheless FAP is a barrel. Rhetoric aside, the Administration's political backing for FAP has been zero, and it was one of the first things sacrificed in the new economic policy.

4) Which leaves foreign policy, particularly Peking and Taipei, and national defense. But that discussion required a separate column.

CHILD WARFARE — A small Bengali boy, with the stump of his right arm bandaged, sits in an Indian hospital in the border town of Bangaon.

The boy's arm was shot off when he was caught in a crossfire between Indian and Pakistani troops in the fighting for Jessore, East Pakistan.

NEW YORK (AP) — The future is a guessing game.

The past is not. That's why so many people often prefer it to the future. You have been enriched by the pleasant things that happened to you in the past. The more memories you have, the greater is your life.

You've had a pretty full life if you can look and remember when—

It took a kid with a pretty good stomach to digest a dime's worth of penny candy.

One of the delights a little girl had in searching through the attic was to find and play with an old-fashioned painted fan.

Practically every other prosperous farmer in the Midwest had a tin box in which he kept his worthless shares of oil and mining stocks—paper testimonials of collapsed get-rich-quick dreams.

One of the certainties of a 10-year-old boy's life was the belief that, if he picked up a hop-top under a street light at night, when he woke up the next morning his fingers would be covered with warts. But frogs didn't do that to a fellow.

Everybody in town felt sorry and kind of startled when the undertakers wife died of pneumonia during the great flu epidemic. Somehow you had never thought death would touch the member of an undertaker's family.

Grandpa thought the younger generation had gone to hell when his son bought an alarm clock to be sure he got to his factory job on time. All Grandpa had ever needed to wake up and face his farm chores was the sound of a rooster in the barnyard saluting the rising sun.

The average man in America was more likely to inherit debts than dollars.

Most of the letters in a congressman's mail ended with a request for free garden seeds.

It was said of America that it was a land where a typical family went "from shirtsleeves to shirtsleeves in three generations."

When a young fellow came back home with a college degree, all the neighbors wondered whether it had ruined him for honest work.

If a fellow didn't trust his local doctor, he could always take the sage advice of his local druggist and buy a bottle of cure-all patent medicine for 95 cents. It tasted so bad he knew it must do him some good.

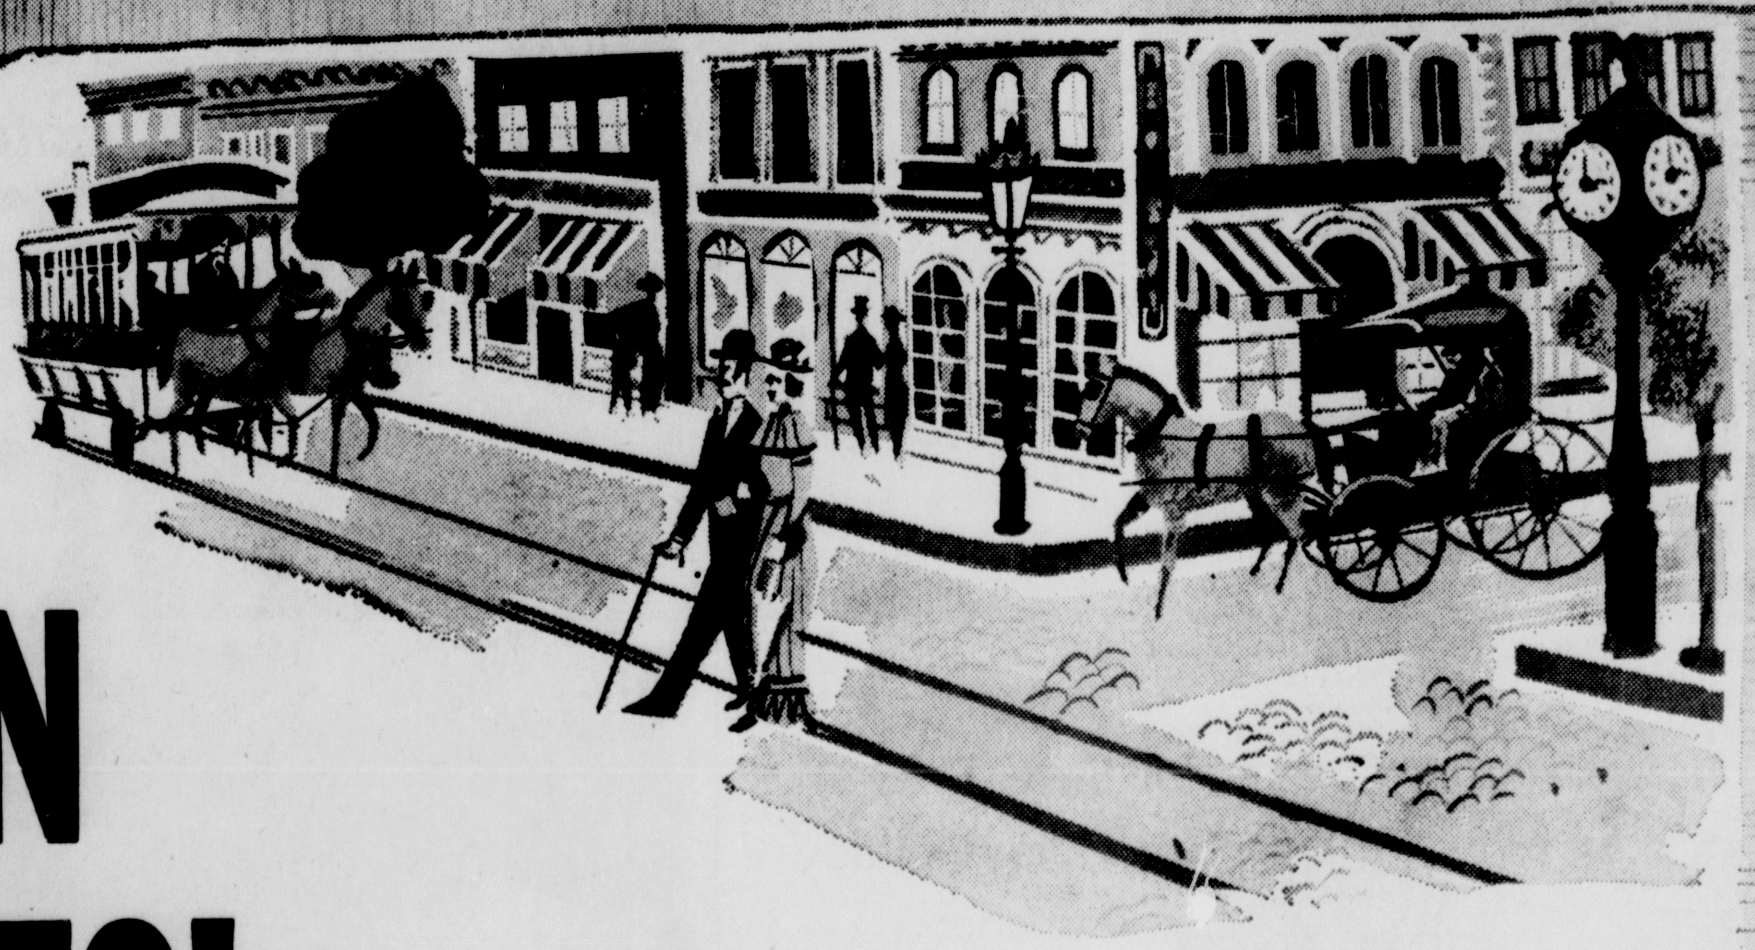

Even if a fellow thought hard all day long, it was hard for him to think up a good reason for staying up after midnight except on Saturdays.

Those were the days—remember?

RAFFLE WINNER — Mrs. Gene Kerns, president of the Ladies Auxiliary of Pickaway Twp. Fire Department, is shown receiving the winning raffle ticket drawn by president of the Fire Department, Charles Williams. Winning $100 in cash was C. W. Cochenour, Route 6, Chillicothe. The AM-FM radio was won by George Ebbrecht, 424 Stella Ave., Circleville.

Rev. George H. Blackstone Speaks To Teacher Assn.

Pickaway County Retired Teachers Association held its Christmas luncheon Saturday at the L-K Restaurant. There were 76 members and guests present.

The social room was decorated in keeping with the Christmas season. The meeting was opened with prayer by Dr. Lloyd Sproule. A short business meeting was conducted by the president, Miss Mary Walters.

The following officers were elected for next year: president, Howard Hosler; vice president, Louise Haggard; secretary, Lucille Brown and treasurer, Mrs. Pearl Drown.

Professor George H. Blackstone, Academic Dean of Circleville Bible College, spoke to the group on the subject, "Israel, Focal Point Of The Christmas Season." Using colored slides mostly taken by himself, Professor Blackstone traced the birth of Christ from annunciation in Nazareth to the birth in Bethlehem and dedication in Jerusalem where the beautiful 1200 year old Dome of the Rock now stands on the site of Herod's temple.

In addition to the nativity story, interesting facets of present-day life in Israel and the occupied territories gave the group a rather diversified insight into present-day activities in this country that appears so frequently in the news of the world.

The archaeological aspects of the country are in evidence as seen by such things as amphitheatres, aqueducts and pagan temples, while actual digging was pointed up by some on - the - spot - pictures of an emergency dig being carried on just outside Jerusalem by the American School of Oriental Research.

Mr. Blackstone was a guest participant in this excavation of a Sadducean burial complex discovered when an Arab farmer's tractor wheel broke through the tomb roof as the man was working his fields. Mr. Blackstone also pointed out the wide spread of agricultural activity involving tropical, subtropical and temperate zone vegetation all being cultivated side by side in this busy country which is literally making the desert blossom as the rose.

Highlight of the decorative scheme for the luncheon was a hand-carved nativity set, the work of a skilled Swiss wood carver, Fritz Kerli, member of the town council of Brieng, Switzerland. The wood comes from the Linden tree, a fairly close relative of our American basswood, but much harder, possibly more resembling the tulip tree.

Sawmills in the alpine countries, the Austrian Tyrol, German Bavaria, Switzerland and south-eastern France specialize in cutting logs of this wood into lumber suitable for the many wood carvers who are artists in the true sense of the term.

Mr. and Mrs. Blackstone have been world travelers. He studied in Edinburgh, Scotland and Chicago before coming to Circleville.

Baby Shower Honors Mrs. Ronald Hawkes

A surprise stork shower was held recently for Mrs. Ronald Hawkes in her home at 411 Watt St. Hostesses were Faith Sabine, Jo Carol and Dawn Hawkes.

Games were played with prizes won by Mrs. Ronald Hawkes, Krista Hawkes, Mrs. Marilyn Hawkes and Mrs. Jon Savage who gave the awards to the honoree.

Unable to attend but sending a gift was Mrs. Louise Sabine. Refreshments of cake, ice cream and punch were served by the hostesses.

Busy Bees Hold Holiday Luncheon

Roundtown Busy Bees Homemakers Extension Group met recently for its annual carry-in Christmas Luncheon at the home of Mrs. Christian Schwarz, 147 Watt St.

The business meeting was omitted and the afternoon spent in visiting.

Attending were: Mrs. Mary Denman, Mrs. Olive Eitel, Mrs. Pauline Hanson, Mrs. Laura Hatfield, Mrs. Alice Heiskel, Miss Mary Howard, Miss Della Huffman, Mrs. Freda Kerns, Mrs. Ethel Lane.

Miss Maggie Mavis, Miss Nora Noise, Mrs. Frances Pritt, Mrs. Fern Schwarz, Mrs. Mary Walters, Mrs. Helen Smith and two guests, Miss Weta Mac Leist and Mrs. Marge Wolford.

The next meeting will be Jan. 11th at the home of Mrs. Helen Barr, 160 Town St.

Costly Racing Car Is Found

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — A racing car valued at $22,000 which was stolen in Cleveland last week, has been recovered by police.

However, the trailer used to haul the car, an estimated $10,000 worth of spare parts and tools used to prepare the 1971 Porsche for racing are still missing.

Police said the car, owned by James Locke of Alton, N.H., was found Wednesday in a field in the Woodland Avenue area on the city's East Side.

Mt. Pleasant WSCS Meets

Mt. Pleasant Women's Society of Christian Service met recently in the social rooms of the church for its Christmas meeting and gift exchange.

Mrs. Boyd Moody presented prayer to begin the evening's activities. Correspondence was read from Mrs. Paul Counts and Mr. and Mrs. Neil Miller.

Mrs. Marion Mowery reported for the card committee and Christmas trays to be made for shut-ins. Members agreed to purchase the turkey for the annual Church's Christmas Dinner.

Art League Slates Christmas Meeting

Mrs. Audrey Turner will host Circleville Art League in her home 1660 Winding Road 6:30 p.m. Monday for its annual carry-in Christmas Dinner.

Meeting Cancelled

Due to the crowded holiday calendar at the Hall-Adkins American Legion Post, the Auxiliary will not hold its regular monthly meeting on Dec. 27th.

Contributions for food baskets for needy veteran families may be delivered to Mrs. Roseann Stinson, 215 E. Union St. by Dec. 22. Toys and good, clean clothing will be gratefully appreciated too. Anyone desiring to contribute and needs the items picked up are requested to call 474-2533 or 474-3392.

Sorry About That

The Nativity pageant scheduled for Sunday night at St. Philip's Church will begin at 7 p.m. and not at 7:30 as previously reported.

No Winner In Subcontinent War

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

In the long run perhaps there will be no real winners in the India-Pakistan war. Whatever the goals of the big powers and their client states in the subcontinent, the conflict can generate enormous problems for all.

—For India, military defeat of Pakistan could one day prove to have been a Pyrrhic victory, bringing more woe than gain.

—For Moscow, India's patron and source of military muscle, involvement creates difficulties in areas where the Russians have made immense investments. It also raises a touchy internal problem.

—For Pakistan, the nation's very survival as an entity is at stake.

—For Pakistan's current sponsor and putative protector, Red China, there are also special problems. Peking, in poor shape now to risk confronting armed Soviet power, probably is considering other means of dealing with a new situation in the subcontinent.

—For the United States, trying to extricate its military from Southeast Asia, the new conflict threatens complications.

India seems about to solve one problem—that of the 10 million refugees from Pakistan who can now return from Indian soil—by creating a new Bengali nation. It is on India's northeast flank, squatting on the strategic Bay of Bengal and bordered by India's own Bengali territories. Yet Bangla Desh—the new Bengali nation—will be incomplete if it does not encompass all Bengalis. What could be more natural than eventual development of a movement to join all of them together?

For China, seeking new ways to deal with a new situation, Bengal offers enticing fishing grounds. A potent Maoist movement for years has been causing major headaches for New Delhi among India's Bengalis. A "Marxist" Communist party, often pro-Chinese in outlook as opposed to the tame pro-Soviet Indian party, almost won the last election for the West Bengal assembly.

It seems logical that radical change would heat up the atmosphere. The whole Bengali area is alive with ferment. Unemployment has reached vast proportions. Intellectuals are restless. The Maoist promise of surgical attack on human problems has great appeal to young men frustrated by the pace of parliamentary government.

If war-borne problems hamper efforts to improve the economy, counter soaring prices, increase grain harvests and improve industrial production, India will be in for big trouble. She could then prove an expensive client for the Russians, a huge economic burden while still needing and demanding military help. The cost for the Russians could be well beyond prospective geopolitical profits.

U.S. Relations With France Warm Up Again

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

Cold War West, the little power-politics contest between two long-time friends and allies, seems to have receded to a considerable degree.

President Nixon's Azores visit with President Georges Pompidou of France indicated a warmer and more fruitful relationship between Paris and Washington than was possible when Charles de Gaulle ruled.

For nearly 200 years, despite occasional tiffs, France and the United States considered one another fast friends. They were allies in two 20th century wars and that left a backlog of mutual esteem.

The Paris-Washington cold war began after De Gaulle became head of a Fifth Republic tailored to his liking, with strong authority in presidential hands. De Gaulle resented the United States as a competitor for authority and influence in European economics and politics. He regarded the U.S. dollar as an instrument of "economic colonization" in France and Western Europe.

A high point of his offensive to eject U.S. influence from Europe came in 1965 with an attack on the dollar. The French conflict over the North Atlantic American cold war extended to Treaty Organization, Vietnam, the Middle East, China and attitudes toward the Soviet Union.

Aware that France was no match for U.S. power, De Gaulle used economics as a political weapon, seeking to hit the Americans where it would hurt a lot—in the gold reserve basket.

France, like most of Western Europe newly prosperous because of the U.S. aid that rebuilt the war-shattered continent, had plenty of dollars from such sources as U.S. military expenses in France, tourists and U.S. business investment.

Using this wherewithal, De Gaulle decreed on New Year's Day, 1965, that France would convert into gold $300 million of its $1.3 billion hoard of dollars, in addition to the $500 million or so cashed regularly on an annual basis. It wasn't the amount so much as the obvious intent that hurt. The move threatened to undermine world confidence in the dollar, and President Lyndon B. Johnson took swift steps to reduce the amount of gold the United States had to hold, by law, to back the dollar.

Along with the economic attack, De Gaulle steered France's foreign policy toward a collision course with Washington. In 1966 he pulled France out of the military side of NATO. U.S. troops were obliged to leave France, abandoning what they could not take with them, which included nearly $1 billion worth of immovable installations.

By 1968 it was French policy to "discern" that the Soviet-Western cold war was over, that Moscow had pulled in its expansionist horns and there was nothing more for the West to fear.

When Georges Pompidou, a Gaullist, succeeded his resplendent chief in May 1969 the United States had cause to wonder if a hostile French policy might be long-lasting.

One of Richard M. Nixon's first major diplomatic forays as President had included a visit to France, only two months before De Gaulle would retire from office. The visit seemed to have had important impact.

The fact that Nixon put Pompidou at the top of the list of European leaders he chose to meet at the summit in advance of his prospective Peking and Moscow visits further suggested that the United States thought highly of French friendship. In turn it probably heightened the Nixon standing in France.

The Azores agreement, at least on the surface, seemed to clear away much of the negative French reaction to Nixon's Aug. 15 "new economic policy" bombshell. France thereafter had rejected U.S. pressure to revalue the franc upward, while in turn it pressured the United States to devalue the dollar.

Differences between the French and Americans seem to have narrowed. France has welcomed Nixon's initiative in mending relations with China. Paris never tires of pointing out that De Gaulle decided as long ago as 1964 to recognize Peking, at a time when such a move was highly unpopular with official Washington.

The French and Americans see more or less eye to eye on the problems of divided Germany. As for NATO, the French now are eager for U.S. troops to remain in West Europe, feeling that is the only way to assure development of a secure mode of life for both East and West.

Some differences—even sharp differences—remain in the policies of the two friends. But in general, the relationship has been progressing steadily back to a point where the abrasiveness of the De Gaulle era seems to have been greatly diminished.

OSU Urges 4 Inquiries Into Outbreak

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio State University Office of Student Affairs recommended Wednesday four separate inquiries to be conducted in connection with campus area disturbances Nov. 5-6.

In a report prepared for the mayor's University Area Task Force, the office recommended:

—The Columbus Bar Association appoint a committee to conduct an inquiry into law enforcement procedures and to recommend reforms.

—Columbus City Council appoint a special commission to investigate the actions of individual police officers involved in the disturbance.

—The Columbus safety director investigate the operations of police officers and officials in the disturbance.

—The OSU public safety director examine the role of his department and the process of communication between his department and other university officials during the disturbance.

Large numbers of young people were arrested during the disorders, which were touched off when police tried to make some drug arrests near a High Street fast-food restaurant across from the school.

Charges against many of those arrested later were dropped.

Youngest Solon Sworn

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A Cleveland State University law student became the youngest member of the Ohio House Wednesday.

Edward Ryder Jr., 23, of Euclid was sworn in to succeed former Rep. George Voinovich, R-53 Cleveland, who resigned to become Cuyahoga County auditor.

Ryder is the youngest member since former governor and current Ohio Supreme Court Chief Justice C. William O'Neill was elected at the age of 22.

Rep. Gertrude Polcar, R-51 Parma, submitted her resignation Wednesday, effective Jan. 1, when she takes office as a Parma Municipal Court judge.

She will be succeeded by Donna Pope, a Cuyahoga County Board of Elections official and a member of the GOP State Executive Committee.

Steel Price Hikes Set By Republic

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—Price increases on sheet and strip products announced by Republic Steel Corp. Aug. 2 will go into effect Jan. 1, with one exception, the company announced Wednesday.

The exception is increases on cold rolled sheet products, which will be effective Feb. 1.

Republic said the increases comply with the percentage formula approved by the Price Commission last week.

The increases are necessary, it added, because of higher costs of labor, materials and services.

Views on Television

By CYNTHIA LOWERY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Rod Sterling, with help from Edward G. Robinson and some other good actors, turned out a fine holiday fantasy on Wednesday night's "Night Gallery."

"Messiah on Mott Street" was a story combining Christmas and Chanukah, about a penniless and sick old Jew who is fighting to stay alive for the sake of his beloved little grandson, an orphan. He defied his doctor and then the angel of death, telling his grandson that the shadow the boy saw was the Messiah visiting to bring good news.

The story, essentially a fable about love and good will, was climaxed by a miracle.

The fascinating aspect of NBC's "Columbo" segment of "Mystery Movie" is the format that lets the viewer in on the crime and the identity of the criminal at the outset. The fun is watching dogged, apologetic Lt. Columbo as he pulls together the clues leading to his solution.

Peter Falk, working in his usual devious way Wednesday night, made some clever deductions as he solved the murder.

With all the detectives and investigators floating around network channels, it might seem that producing and selling a mystery series would be a fairly simple project. It's not. This Friday night NBC's "World Premiere" film will be "They Call It Murder," a series pilot using the late Erle Stanley Gardner's character, district attorney Doug Selby, as the leading character.

Producer Cornwell Jackson and his wife, former actress Gail Patrick, have been working on a Doug Selby series since the days when another Gardner project, "Perry Mason" was in its network heyday—more than six years.

How Weather Looks Today

OHIO WEATHER SUMMARY
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Following is the Ohio weather summary from the National Weather Service:

Cooler temperatures came to the state today, following record or near-record highs in many cities Wednesday.

Readings Wednesday ranged in the 60s over most of Ohio, compared with highs today in the 50s under cloudy to partly-cloudy skies. Lows last night were in the 40s.

Temperatures will continue to fall tonight and Friday with overnight lows in the 30s, followed by the highs Friday in the 40s. Snow flurries are forecast in northeastern Ohio.

Winds diminishing overnight as the low pressure system closed the state yesterday continued northeast into Canada.

FORECASTS
OHIO — Mostly cloudy north, variable cloudiness south and cooler tonight and Friday. A chance of snow flurries northeast tonight and Friday. Lows tonight in the 30s. Highs Friday in the 40s.

NORTHWEST INLAND, WEST LAKE SHORE—Mostly cloudy and cooler tonight and Friday. Lows tonight in the low 30s. Highs Friday around 40.

WEST CENTRAL, CENTRAL, EAST CENTRAL, SOUTHWEST, SOUTHEAST—Variable cloudiness and cooler tonight and Friday. Lows tonight in the 30s. Highs Friday in the 40s.

Fire-Police 'Sick-Out' Hits Urbana

URBANA, Ohio (AP) — Only the chiefs were manning the stations today as Urbana's 19 policemen and 17 firemen continued a sick-call work stoppage in a pay dispute with the city.

Officials reportedly were considering invoking the state Ferguson Act, which prohibits strikes by public employees.

Members of both departments walked off the job at noon Wednesday and men assigned to later shifts called in sick.

The Champaign County Sheriff's Department was providing backup police protection. Fire departments in surrounding communities were placed on alert to help out if needed.

The sick-out apparently was triggered by city council action Tuesday night granting pay raises to the mayor, city auditor and solicitor and providing an assistant to the solicitor.

The two departments asked last June for a 6 per cent increase in base pay. Council offered 3 per cent and turned down a series of other requests of fringe benefits. The workers turned down the offer and there has been no agreement since then.

India Tells U.S. To Keep Navy Out Of Bay Of Bengal

WASHINGTON (AP) — India has told the United States to keep the U.S. nuclear aircraft carrier Enterprise and escorting warships out of the Bay of Bengal and has promised to give help to all foreign nationals seeking safety in the East Pakistan war.

India's Ambassador Lakshmi Kant Jha, making this known to newsmen Tuesday, said he had received reliable reports the U.S. fleet might seek to "establish a beachhead for the evacuation of not only American personnel, but also Pakistan army officers and men as well as civilians who feel insecure."

Jha said he had sought a denial of the report from Asst. Secretary of State Joseph Sisco but had failed to receive a satisfactory reply.

American officials continued their silence on activities of the 7th Fleet task force. Defense, State and White House sources have declined to comment on the movement of any U.S. naval forces.

But it was learned from authoritative sources that the American fleet is poised at the Straits of Malacca near Singapore awaiting instructions to take part in an evacuation plan if necessary.

At the same time, U.S. intelligence sources disclosed that Soviet naval strength in the Indian Ocean is being increased to about 15 vessels. One force is 800 miles south of the West Pakistan coast. A second, smaller group is some 1,500 miles off the East Pakistan coast in a southerly direction.

Ambassador Jha said the Soviet fleet units "are not going to get anywhere near the zone of conflict. If they did we would be as sharp in our reaction as we are to reports of the American fleet activity."

He said India would consider as a hostile act evacuation of nonforeign personnel from Bangla Desh, the Indian name for East Pakistan.

He said India is not objecting to use of foreign planes for evacuation of foreigners from Dacca. India seeks to avoid evacuation of Pakistani troops from the East to reinforce Pakistani forces in the West.

Sneek-A-Peek

By Pickaway County Library Staff

This, the 200th anniversary year of Beethoven, is a good time to stress the importance of good music to children. Beethoven's birthday is December 16, and there will undoubtedly be a great many of his symphonic works featured in all media.

There are several biographies of great musicians in the Sneek-a-Peek room, including such masters as Bach, Mozart, and Haydn, and our own Stephen Foster.

Books of music are found in the non-fiction section. For the very young children there are "Sing Mother Goose" by Opal Wheeler, charmingly illustrated by Marjorie Torrey; "A Treasury of Songs for Little Children" by Esther Botwin.

"Hush Little Baby" is a jewel of a book. Alike, who has decorated each page with realistic yet tender scenes, "All Things Bright and Beautiful" is done by Leo Politi with distinction. "Widdowcombe Fair" will require some interpretation by an adult, but it is the liveliest of them all.

Boys and girls of middle years will laugh at "The Wallowing Window Blind", cleverly done by Harry Devlin and "Hi! Ho! The Rattlin' Bog" selected by John Langstaff.

Langstaff was awarded the Caldecott medal for "A Frog He Would A-Courtin' Go". "Lift Every Voice and Sing" by James Weldon Johnson is startling in its dramatic format. Then there are "The Cat in the Hat Song Book" and the "Laura Ingalls Wilder Song Book" and "Marguerite de Angeli's Book of Favorite Hymns".

These song books should lead to a curiosity about musical instruments. Some of the titles are "Which Musical Instrument Shall I Play?", "Wonders of Musical Instruments", and "Let's Learn about the Orchestra".

It's easy to make some instruments. Directions are given in "Make Your Own Musical Instrument" and "Indian Music Makers".

In addition to all of the above, there are separate volumes on woodwinds, brass, key boards, and folk instruments.

Man Sentenced; Assaulted Marshal

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—Edward Lewanski, 33, of Chardon, has been sentenced to two years in prison after pleading guilty to assaulting a deputy U.S. marshal last year.

A U.S. District Court jury was unable to reach a verdict on the assault charge last week after finding Lewanski guilty of possessing firearms as a convicted felon. He pleaded guilty Monday before U.S. District Court Judge Thomas Lambros.

Queen Elizabeth Given Large Raise

LONDON (AP)—The House of Commons has more than doubled Queen Elizabeth's annual allowance and boosted the pay of Queen Mother Elizabeth and Princess Margaret, over violent objections by Labor party members.

Queen Elizabeth's allowance goes from $1.2 million to $2.5 million, the queen mother's from $175,000 to $237,500 and Princess Margaret's from $97,500 to $87,500.

Bob Hope Given Send-Off For Tour Of Military Bases

By BOB THOMAS
Associated Press Writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Bob Hope left on his 21st overseas USO Christmas tour Wednesday following a "Thanks for the Memories" dinner saluting his 30 years of entertaining American troops in three wars.

Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., told the crowd that he, as a ham radio operator, heard from correspondents abroad about the good work Hope has done with American GIs.

Bob is going to Vietnam with Miss USA and I'm going to China with Henry Kissinger," Nixon saluted the 68-year-old comedian for his achievement in entertaining American servicemen.

The USO benefit featured memories of Hope's tours of the past and the comedian acknowledged such former costars as Frances Langford, Jerry Colonna, Kaye Stevens, Zsa Zsa Gabor, Marilyn Maxwell, Toney Romano and Irene Ryan.

High Winds Rake East; 5 Injured

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Gale and storm warnings flew over the Great Lakes region today as damaging winds which swept the center of the nation raced to the East.

Winds gusting to 70 miles an hour hit western New York state Wednesday night, uprooting trees, downing power lines and injuring five persons. Several mobile homes were overturned.

Gale warnings were up on four of the Great Lakes while Lake Huron displayed storm warnings. High-wind warnings were in effect for western New York.

The storm dumped snow into Maine and freezing drizzle on Massachusetts. Travel warnings were posted in Maine and New Hampshire.

More than 50 persons were injured and two were killed as the storm raced through the Midwest Tuesday night and Wednesday.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

Promotion Criteria Questioned

DEAR ABBY: My husband is the head of a large corporation. He does not drink hard liquor, but very few people know this because at cocktail parties he takes one drink and pretends to sip it all evening.

Now he watches his junior executives drinking habits very carefully, and they are promoted or fired accordingly. Anyone who takes more than two drinks is dropped or passed over for promotion no matter how good a job he does.

I feel that someone should have a talk with the man and give him a chance to cut down. He says: "No, once a drunk, always a drunk. He says it takes guts not to drink in today's society, and he needs men with guts to run the business right. What is your opinion?"

DEAR CONCERNED: If everyone who takes more than two drinks is (as your husband states) a "drunk" — there are a lot of drunks effectively running a lot of businesses.

I agree, it takes guts not to drink in today's society, but a man who takes a drink publicly and "pretends to sip" it so no one will know he doesn't drink, is lacking in guts himself. If guts is the issue, the alcoholic who said: "No thanks, I'm as alcoholic as far more guts than your holier-than-thou abstainer."

DEAR ABBY: I have a very good friend I have known for a long time and I wouldn't intentionally hurt her for the world. She and her husband are about 11 years older than my husband and I, but we went around together and were all good friends.

The whole mess started when her husband started making advances and trying to paw me. I slapped his face once (real hard) in the kitchen when he tried to get fresh, but that didn't stop him. He came over to my house one night knowing my husband wasn't there. I would not let him in, so he climbed in through the window and I ran him off with a broom.

In desperation, I told his wife, and do you know what she said to me? "I know his faults, but I love him anyway. You were very cruel to tell me this and I will never forgive you for it!"

Our friendship has cooled off a lot since then, but at least it did put a stop to all his funny business. Was I wrong in telling my friend about her husband?

-BROKEN FRIENDSHIP
DEAR BROKEN: Yes. You did it the hard way. You should have told your husband.

DEAR ABBY: A reader wrote to tell you that he (or she) had read somewhere that when a couple becomes engaged and the boy doesn't give the girl an engagement ring, but buys her a fancy wedding ring instead, she can wear it as her "engagement ring. The reader asked if that was proper.

You replied, "Not in MY book. A wedding ring should not be worn until AFTER the wedding."

Well, Abby, in Switzerland, when the couple becomes engaged, the boy gives the girl a plain gold ring which she wears on her RIGHT hand. After the wedding she wears it on her LEFT hand. Sincerely yours,

MRS. S. W. DEAR MRS. S.W.: Live and learn! I appreciate your setting me straight. You and I learned from different "books" . . . each is correct, so when in Rome (or Switzerland) do what the natives do.

PTA News
WASHINGTON PTO
The students of Washington Township School presented their annual Christmas program to a very appreciative capacity audience Monday evening. The first grade pupils were all decked out as Christmas trees as they sang "I'm a Little Christmas Tree". "Counting the Days" and "Saint Nicholas". The children in second grade were in doll and toy costumes and presented "Christmas" and "Here Comes Saint Nicholas". The third grade had written the additional verses for "Christmas Bells" which they sang, along with "Seven Joys of Christmas". A special chorus from grades four, five and six presented four traditional Christmas songs and led the audience in singing some familiar carols to conclude the very fine musical program. Mrs. Marcia Shellhase, who is the musical instructor for grades one, two and three, and Mr. William Williams, for grades four, five and six, are to be congratulated for their work in this wonderful evening of music. Following the program, drawings for prizes in the Christmas Raffle were made with the first prize won by Phil Gillette, second by Thelma Penwell and third by Mrs. Joyce Ater. A bake sale was then conducted by the Ways and Means Committee of the PTO, to bring the evenings program to a very successful conclusion.

Mayor Gets Call Over Yule Music
HANNIBAL, Mo. (AP) — Mayor Henry Glascock forgot to shut off a record player in his office that was sending out Christmas music over a loud speaker system. When the same record kept playing over and over, a woman who lives five blocks from City Hall decided there was only one thing to do. She called the mayor at home, at 1 a.m., and asked him to please shut off the Christmas music. Glascock went down to the office and threw the switch.

The Circleville Herald

Circleville, Ohio

Tax Revenue Distributed

State Auditor Joseph T. Ferguson reported today that a total of $8,101,184 in gasoline tax revenue was distributed in December to Ohio's 229 cities, 707 villages and 1,320 townships. The cities and villages received the largest share totaling $4,405,184. Ferguson noted. They shared in the tax revenue based on a formula of $1 per motor vehicle registered within their boundaries. Circleville received $6,781; Ashville, $1,485; Commercial Point, $144; Darbyville, $99; Harrisburg, $22; New Holland, $482; Orient, $430; South Bloomfield, $317; Tarlton, $225; and Williamsport, $496.

The counties each received $30,000 for a county total of $2,640,000, while the townships each received $800 for a township total of $1,056,000. Township shares were mailed to the county auditors for distribution to townships within each county, Ferguson said. Gasoline tax distributions to the state's larger cities were: Cleveland $378,991, Parma $52,091; Euclid $39,536, Lakewood $34,656, and Cleveland Heights $30,967 all in Cuyahoga County; Columbus $309,485; Cincinnati $250,257; Toledo $231,256; Akron $165,858; Dayton $148,039; Kettering $41,351, in Montgomery County; Lorain $45,612 and Elyria $34,730, both in Lorain County; Canton $62,568; Youngstown $77,703; Hamilton $44,374 and Middletown $30,636 both in Butler County; Warren $40,434, in Trumbull County, and Springfield, Clark County $50,016.

Union Sues Over IRS Secretiveness
WASHINGTON (AP) — Organized labor has gone to court in an attack on a government information blackout it says could encourage price and rent cheaters to repeat their violations. A lawsuit filed Tuesday by a New York City municipal union seeks to end an Internal Revenue Service policy that keeps secret the names of cheating landlords and businessmen unless the government sues them. Because of this policy a consumer or tenant who has been overcharged has no way of knowing that he is due a refund, unless the violator chooses to tell him. Although the IRS says it is reviewing this policy, for now it will not tell tenants, consumers, labor unions or newsmen the names or locations of price and rent cheaters, even if asked specifically. A suit against the policy was filed Tuesday in U.S. District Court in New York by District Council 37 of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees, AFL-CIO, the union said. In another matter Tuesday, the Pay Board put off for a week consideration of a pattern-setting contract in the aerospace industry calling for a first-year pay increase of 11.8 per cent.

Trustees, Clerks Elect Officers

The Pickaway County Trustees and Clerks Assn. elected officers at its annual meeting last week. Don Strous, Saltcreek Twp. trustee, is president. Carl Schein, Deer Creek Twp. trustee, is vice president. John Fissell, Circleville Twp. trustee, is secretary-treasurer. Approximately 80 persons attended the meeting at which Glen McCoy, right of way engineer for Division Six, State Department of Highways, was the principal speaker.

Congress Pushes For Adjournment
WASHINGTON (AP) — After sending President Nixon legislation extending his economic powers, Congress is tackling a clutter of money bills in hopes of adjourning today. The bill continuing Nixon's authority over wages, prices and rents through April 30, 1973, got final approval by voice votes in the Senate and House Tuesday. It contains a provision which sponsors said would release most previously negotiated wage increases frozen during the initial phase of anti-inflation controls. Nixon wanted this decision left to the Pay Board, but he nevertheless was expected to sign the bill that provides the essential machinery he requested for administration of Phase 2. A last-minute threat to the bill was eliminated Tuesday when a hastily reconvened Senate-House conference cut out a provision that had been ruled extraneous. It would have allowed top salaries of Congress' employees to be increased from $36,000 to $38,000. The Senate passed a compromise election-reform bill by voice vote Tuesday, but the House deferred consideration until the next session starting Jan. 18. The money bills jeopardizing adjournment provide financing for the Defense Department, the District of Columbia and the foreign-aid program for the fiscal year already half gone.

When the same record kept playing over and over, a woman who lives five blocks from City Hall decided there was only one thing to do. She called the mayor at home, at 1 a.m., and asked him to please shut off the Christmas music. Glascock went down to the office and threw the switch.

Youth Defies Predictions: Lives

By KERRY YENCER
The Peru Tribune
(Written for The Associated Press)

PERU, Ind. (AP)—For 16-year-old David Utter, born with a curvature of the spine and a congenital heart disease, a hoped-for Christmas gift could come five days early this year.

The slightly-built youngster, born a "blue baby" July 22, 1955 at Cherry Point, N.C., fooled doctors who told his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gail Utter, now of rural Peru, Ind., that there wasn't a thing they could do for him—he wouldn't live long.

But David, now 5-feet-1 and 75 pounds, enters Cincinnati's Good Samaritan Hospital Monday for surgery on his spine. If it is not corrected, the curvature could eventually cause paralysis.

Because of a lack of a pulmonary artery, oxygen to David's lungs must be supplied through his veins, but no known surgery can repair that.

If the spinal operation is successful, David still won't have the capabilities of a normal youngster, but he'll be able to get around easier. Now he can stand only for short periods before his thin legs give out.

The chance of failure hasn't embittered him, though. "If I'm not going to be (healthy), I'm not going to be," David says. "If I were supposed to be straight up, it would have been."

Despite the use of penicillin to ward off infections, David's weakened system has made him especially vulnerable to all childhood diseases.

"He's had German measles, old-fashioned mumps and all the childhood diseases," his mother said. "They put him in a glass room when he had the German measles and he got so mad at the doctor that he'd throw things at the window when the doctor went by."

Life has been one hospital after another for the Utters since David's birth. "The first eight to 12 weeks of his life, David spent in an oxygen tent," his mother said. "Then they sent him home to die."

The Utters still must keep an oxygen tank close by wherever they go, and some days, David needs as many as eight penicillin tablets, each between 250,000 and 600,000 units in strength.

David's father retired last July after 22 years in the Marine Corps. Thus many of the previous expenses of keeping David alive have been handled by the government. Under a program covering veterans, the government will pay 75 per cent of expenses for David's surgery.

A similar operation was performed on a girl who had a 128-degree curvature of the spine, Mrs. Utter said. "She's married and has children now," she said, adding to the hope for recovery for David, who has a 110-degree curvature.

Besides straightening the spine, four pins will be inserted in David's skull, hips and legs so that a support brace may be worn.

Unlike most 16-year-olds, David doesn't worry about school. But his parents arrange private tutorage for him five days a week, two hours a day. History is among David's favorite subjects. Also occupying his spare time, when he isn't getting his needed 14 to 18 hours of sleep a day, are games of checkers and craftwork.

Meanwhile, David continues to plan for the future. "I'd like to be an engineer or work on computers," he said. "I'd like to be associated with rockets."

Circleville Hosts Washington C.H. In SCOL Action

It will be South Central Ohio League action again Friday night when the Circleville Tigers, 3-2, host the Blue Lions of Washington C.H., 1-3, in a game that always produces plenty of fireworks.

Both squads are 1-1 in league play and will be battling to stay alive in the SCOL title race.

The Blue Lions downed Wilmington for their win and then were torn up by the Panthers of Miami Trace last week.

Circleville was also bombed by Trace but got back on the winning trail last week when they romped over the Hillsboro Indians.

THE Tigers are ripping the nets for an overall average of 73.2 points per contest and lead the league in this category.

Defensively the Red and Black cagers are third in the league giving up 61 markers per game.

On offense the Lions are posting 60.8 points per game but have allowed an average of 68 tallies to the opposition.

Terry Morrison, the Tiger terror, is leading the league with an average of 20.4 points a game and Dave Truex holds second spot in the SCOL with 17.6.

Shaw leads Washington C.H. with 12 markers per game with Bath hitting the cords at 10.3 clip and Donahue at 10 tallies per game.

Coach John Lawhorn will go with Morrison and Jim Neal at the guards, Dan Graham in the center slot and Truex and Don Valentine at the forwards. The Tigers have depth on this year's squad and can go to the bench for help when needed.

IN other league action Friday the league leaders, Greenfield and Miami Trace, are both 2-0 in league play but something will have to give when they clash at the Greenfield bandbox. Wilmington and Hillsboro, both 0-2, will go up against each other on the Indians' court.

Kentucky State Takes Lead In College Division Cage Poll

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Kentucky State, led by Little All-American forward Travis Grant and bidding for a third consecutive National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics championship, held the top spot in The Associated Press' first weekly College Division basketball poll for the 1971-72 season.

The Thorobreds, 2-0 through Saturday night this season, received six first place votes and a total of 275 points from a nationwide panel of sports writers and broadcasters to head the list.

Evansville, the defending NCAA College Division champions, took second place in the initial poll with five first place votes and 233 points. The Purple Aces are 3-0 this season through Saturday night.

Right behind Evansville, in third place, is Wisconsin-Eau Claire, 6-0. Eau Claire, 51-4 over the past two years, got three first place votes and 226 points.

Cheyney State nosed out Louisiana Tech for fourth place on the list. Each received one first place vote, but Cheyney State, 5-0, accumulated 150 points to 147 for Louisiana Tech, 4-0.

No school other than the top five received first place votes. Rounding out the Top Ten were No. 6 Tennessee State, 30, 120 points; No. 7 Assumption, 3-1, 95; No. 8 Akron, 4-0, 72; No. 9 Eastern Illinois, 6-0, 69, and No. 10 Stephen F. Austin, 4-1, 63.

The Top Ten at the close of last season had LSU-New Orleans on top, NAIA champion Kentucky State runner-up, Tennessee State third, Fairmont, W. Va. State fourth, Assumption fifth, Southwestern Louisiana sixth, Ashland seventh, Eau Claire eighth, Louisiana Tech ninth and Puget Sound 10th.

Evansville winner of the NCAA College Division tournament last year, was not ranked among the top 20 at the close of the regular season.

Vanatta To Become Manager of Pros

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Former college basketball coach Bob Vanatta is expected to be named general manager of the Memphis Pros of the American Basketball Association late today.

Charles Cavagnaro, general manager of the team for just over a year, has resigned to return to newspaper work.

A. S. "Bert" Hart, who recently became president of the team's parent organization, said he will offer the position to Vanatta, who has been executive director of the club since Oct. 1.

Telephone Companies Planning Expansion

MARION, Ohio (AP) — General Telephone Co. of Ohio and Northern Ohio Telephone Co., which jointly serve 638,000 customers in 79 counties, have announced plans for a record $61.2 million in capital improvements in 1972.

Both firms are subsidiaries of General Telephone & Electronics Corp., New York. They constitute the state's largest independent telephone operations. Chief allocations for expansion in 248 exchanges will be $25.8 million for local and long distance call-switching equipment and $16.6 million for outside plant line facilities.

Prep Grid Playoffs OK'd; No Schedule Yet

By GEORGE STRODE
Associated Press Sports Writer
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — "I'm going to vote according to the survey."

Emerson Brown echoed the feelings of the Ohio High School Athletic Association board of control, which approved state football playoffs Wednesday.

Brown, West Liberty Salem superintendent, and the other five members of the board of control voted strictly on the results of a statewide survey of high schools on the playoff issue.

Schools approved playoffs 330-206 in the survey last month after voting them down last spring 350-319.

Only Northwestern District schools opposed them again 65-50 and Bellevue High School principal Bob Regula, the board member from that area, cast the lone dissenting vote.

"I voted against them because 15 more schools in my district voted against them," said Regula, explaining his vote.

Voting for the playoffs were Clayton "Pete" Wolfe, Uhrichsville Claymont superintendent; Dick Snouffer, Delaware Hayes principal; John Mensch, Tallmadge vocational coordinator; James Shoup, Ross County superintendent, and Brown.

Although details will be worked out later, the playoffs will consist of semifinals and finals in each class, with games the last two weekends in November.

The semifinals will be determined by computerized regional rating, compiled weekly and based on the toughness of a team's schedule and those of its opponents.

OU Remains Giant - Killer; Defeats Indiana, 79 - 70

By BERT ROSENTHAL
Associated Press Sports Writer

Ohio University's Bobcats have not yet bobbed up in the nation's Top 10 basketball teams this season, but if they continue beating Big Ten teams, they might join the elite.

The unheralded Bobcats posted their second straight victory over a Big Ten Conference club, upsetting 12th-ranked Indiana 79-70 Wednesday night. Four days earlier, they toppled Ohio State, ranked fourth at the time, 77-69.

Hoosiers' Coach Bob Knight said, "Ohio University just came to play harder than we did, and that was it in a nutshell. They played well at both ends. They grabbed loose balls. We didn't underestimate them. We knew they were strong."

The Bobcats, 3-1, showed their strength quickly, grabbing a 5-2 lead in the first three minutes and never relinquishing it. Tom Riccardi's 18 points paced Ohio University's balanced attack. Tom Corde added 17 points and Bob Howell scored 15.

Indiana's Joby Wright led all scorers with 35 points. It was the Hoosiers' first setback in five games.

Meanwhile, sixth-ranked Brigham Young remained unbeaten, whipping Oklahoma State 84-74 for its fifth victory. The Cougars were led by Bernie Fryer with 21 points and Kresimir Cosic with 20. Sophomore Ralph Rasmunson topped Oklahoma State with 29 points.

Long Beach State, rated 13th, downed Loyola Los Angeles, 73-67, for its fourth victory in five games. The 49ers outrebounded Loyola 60-40, with Chuck Terry grabbing 15. Terry also was Long Beach's high scorer with 17 points.

Virginia, the No. 19 team, pulled away in the second half for an 82-62 triumph over William and Mary. Six-foot-10 Scott McCandlish poured in 26 points for the Cavaliers.

St. Joseph's, Pa., broke the scoring record for the Philadelphia Palestra, crushing Nevada-Reno 128-66. The previous Palestra mark was 125 points, set by LaSalle in 1967.

Undeclared Syracuse won its fifth game, shading Penn State 73-70; Mississippi handed Southern Mississippi its 13th straight loss over two seasons 107-92; Murray State nipped Bradley 75-74 on Lee Taylor's field goal with three seconds left; Scott Michel's tie-breaking field goal with eight seconds remaining helped Yale top Brown 73-70, and sophomore Glen Price's 20 points paced St. Bonaventure to an 80-66 victory over DePaul.

In other Ohio college basketball games Wednesday night, Ashland defeated Ohio Dominican 95-79 and Wooster trounced Geneva, Pa., 109-64.

Bill Higgins scored 24 points and Bob Spivery 16 as Ashland recorded its third win in four starts. Dave Maurer and Jim

The board, however, did make one change, counting 1972 victories over Class AA foes as three points. This year the Class AAA schools were divided into three categories based on enrollment, with three, four and five points being awarded depending on the size of the school.

Commissioner Harold Meyer and Lou Venditti of Canton Lincoln, president of the Ohio High School Football Coaches Association, both pushed for one Class AAA category.

"We're trying to achieve a rating system fair to all schools. We tried one system. Let's try another and keep trying until we come up with the right one," Meyer said.

"It's not fair to have a three-four-five point rating for Class AAA teams. Our school is a small AAA team, but we think we play a better caliber of football than many larger schools," said Venditti.

Meyer would not say when dates, site and other details for the playoffs would be worked out.

"That will be up to the new state board to handle," said the commissioner. "My feeling is we're going to have to talk to coaches groups and others before we make recommendations."

Only holdover on the 1972 state board will be Wolfe.

New members will be William Agler, Buckeye Valley principal; Harold Sponseller, assistant principal at Cuyahoga Heights; Mack Schaffer, Putnam County schools supervisor; Donald Gatchell, assistant principal at Chillicothe, and Orville Edmundson, Dayton Stebbins principal.

Yepremian And Griese Pace NFL

NEW YORK (AP) — The leading passer in the National Football League's American Conference is Bob Griese of the Miami Dolphins. And the leading scorer in the AFC is Garo Yepremian of the same Miami Dolphins. So it is any wonder that Miami is one of the team in the NFL's post-season playoffs?

Statistics released by the league today show Griese with a 54.5 per cent average on 132 completions of 242 attempts including 19 touchdowns this season. Yepremian has scored 108 points including 26 of 37 attempted field goals.

Griese's passing game is complimented by the rushing of Larry Csonka, whose 983 yards gained are second only to Denver's Floyd Little, who has gained 1,054. Csonka's running mate, Jim Kiick, has gained 684 yards, eighth best in the conference.

The pass-catching leader is Oakland's Fred Biletnikoff, who's grabbed 59 compared to 53 for Otis Taylor of Kansas City.

In the National Conference, the leading rusher is rookie John Brockington of Green Bay, who soared over the 1,000-yard mark last week and now has 1,032 compared to 974 for Willie Ellison of Los Angeles.

Roger Staubach of Dallas, averaging 8.9 yards gained with every completed pass, is the leader among the conference quarterbacks while Bob Tucker of New York, with 51 catches, is the top receiver, leading San Francisco's Ted Kwalick by two receptions.

Colonels Rip Carolina; Win Tilt, 137-93

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

"Artis Gilmore will be to Kentucky what Bill Russell was to Boston," declared Bill Sharman before the start of the season, high praise indeed for the tall rookie from Jacksonville.

But so far, at least, Gilmore has more than lived up to his advance billing.

The 7-foot-2 first-year center, who leads the ABA in rebounding, moved on the offensive Wednesday night, pouring in 34 points as the Kentucky Colonels plastered the Carolina Cougars 137-93. The 44-point spread was the largest victory margin in Colonels history.

In other ABA games, the Floridians whipped Virginia 119-105, the New York Nets topped Memphis 109-100 and Indiana defeated Dallas 124-110.

Sharman, who teamed with Russell on many of the Celtics championship teams and now coaches the NBA Los Angeles Lakers, was basing his statement on Gilmore's rebounding and defensive ability, his strong points in college when he led Jacksonville from obscurity to the NCAA finals.

Gilmore has done the job off the boards, leading the league with about 20 rebounds per game. And, like Russell, he's been devastating on defense, blocking shots and preventing opponents from driving the lane.

Ohio's all-star football and basketball games and paired the regional champions in the state basketball tournament in 1972.

In the Class AA semifinals, games Thursday night, March 23, the Columbus area will face Oxford and Bowling Green and Canton regional kings meet.

In Class AAA semifinals, the Cincinnati regional will play Canton and Copley faces Columbus Friday, March 24.

In Class A semifinals, it will be the Oxford winner against Steubenville and Athens against Bowling Green Friday night, March 24.

All championship games will be played Saturday, March 25, and the entire tournament again will be staged in St. John Arena on the Ohio State campus.

Walt Johnson To Be Ready With Browns

CLEVELAND (AP)—Veteran defensive tackle Walter Johnson of the Cleveland Browns, down with a virus missed Wednesday practice, but he is expected to be ready for action Sunday when the Browns play the Redskins in Washington.

Coach Nick Skorich says Johnson, in his seventh year with the Browns, "definitely is our all-pro candidate for the defense."

"He rates with Mike Reid of Cincinnati and Joe Greene of Pittsburgh as top men at the position," the coach said Wednesday. "Overall I believe he's as good as either of them."

"There is no doubt that he's been the most consistent man on the defensive line. Even when the defense was in that slump, Walter was getting his job done for the most part," Skorich added.

Johnson recovered a fumble in the end zone for what proved to be the winning touchdown as the Browns beat the Saints in New Orleans last Sunday.

It was his second touchdown as a pro, and both of them having come in New Orleans.

Vida Blue To Get 'Substantial Raise'

OAKLAND (AP) — Pitcher Vida Blue, the American League Cy Young and Most Valuable Player awards winner will get a "substantial raise" over last year's $14,750 rookie contract, says Oakland Athletics owner Charles O. Finley.

"And I'm not talking about peanuts," Finley said Wednesday in a telephone interview.

Boxing Champ

Dick Tiger Dies

ENUGU, Nigeria (AP)—Dick Tiger, the son of a Nigerian chicken farmer who became world middleweight and light heavyweight boxing champion, has died at his home in Aba in Eastern Nigeria.

East Central State Boxing Commission officials said today the 42-year-old former two-time middleweight boxing champion of the world died Monday night following a brief liver ailment.

Tiger, whose real name was Richard Ihetu, returned to Nigeria six months ago after a three-year stay in the United States, to announce his retirement after 21 years in the ring.

residential structures. It was a bill that had been bounced around in the legislature for three years.

Left dangling when the legislature called it quits around 11 p.m. were two other major measures. One would have provided for a separate penalty for persons committing a crime with a dangerous weapon and the other would have extended Department of Commerce and the attorney general's powers in consumer sales violations.

The legislature did okay a $239 million capital improvement bill for state building projects through the biennium. The bill basically reapropriates money which lapsed at the end of the old biennium, July 1.

It was disavowed by the Gilligan administration, which had requested a $425 million capital improvements budget for the same period.

Gilligan's proposal however was six months late in being introduced and Republican, with Democratic approval, introduced a bipartisan legislative bill.

The signing of the tax bill was protested on both legislative fronts. Sen. Robin Turner, R-14 Marion, and Rep. Richard Reichel, R-92 Massillon, provided the opposition.

Turner was ruled out of order when he tried to put his protest into the written proceedings of the Senate. Reichel's objections, almost identical in nature, were accepted in the House without comment.

Both the legislators admitted they were setting the stage for possible legal actions against the tax bill, approved in the House last Friday and in the Senate the previous day.

They said the manner in which the tax issue bounced from one conference committee to another was illegal because joint House-Senate rules had not been adopted for the session.

Reichel, in his statement, noted that the House had decided that the rules of the 108th General Assembly were to apply until new rules were adopted.

He said it was clearly an "arbitrary and illegal action" on the part of Kilgus. "No action or rule of a previous assembly can bind a later assembly," he said.

2 Americans Die In War During Week

SAIGON (AP) — The U.S. Command announced today that two Americans were killed in action in Vietnam last week, equalling the lowest official weekly toll in nearly seven years.

U.S. deaths due to nonhostile causes totaled 28, the highest such toll since last February. Thirty of them were aboard a helicopter that disappeared in a storm Nov. 28 and had previously been listed as missing.

The U.S. Command also reported 56 Americans wounded in action last week, a sharp increase from the 14 reported two weeks ago.

The South Vietnamese military command reported 243 of its troops killed in action and 759 wounded, compared to 214 killed and 630 wounded the week before.

The U.S. and South Vietnamese commands claimed 1,046 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong troops killed last week, 237 more than the previous week.

The allied commands now have reported these total casualties for the war:

American—45,619 killed in action, 302,353 wounded, 10,003 dead from nonhostile causes.

South Vietnamese—126,969 killed in action, 296,542 wounded

North Vietnamese and Viet Cong—786,619 killed.

Welfare Official Doubts U.S. Plan Will Be Effective

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—State officials are not optimistic that federal legislation will provide a long-term solution to the welfare problem.

A bill passed by Congress this week would provide federal funds to create public service jobs and would require able-bodied welfare recipients to take jobs or sign up for job training.

Robert Canary, assistant Ohio welfare director, questioned Wednesday whether the program, even if it provided jobs for substantial numbers of recipients, would have any lasting effect once funds run out.

"Some of these people obviously, once they got started, would prove themselves and be worth keeping on," Canary said. "But I don't believe there will be enough permanent public service jobs to make a big dent in the welfare rolls."

SELECT A GIFT — Members of Picca Day Care Centers 1 and 2 and children of Christmas families sponsored by the Community United Methodist Church were invited to the church parlor to select a Christmas gift for their parents Wednesday. The Christmas Social Concerns committee of the Women's

Society of Christian Service coordinated the gift shop. The committee which is headed by Mrs. William Curtiss and Mrs. James McDaniel has been working all this year with the Day Care mothers presenting programs which ranged from cooking to hair styling. The gift shop is the last project for this year. Many church members helped in the gift project either by contributing suitable gifts, providing transportation, helping with gift selection, and wrapping the gifts for the children. Members of the different Women's circles made many of the gifts while some female members of the UMYF helped to decorate cookies to be given to the children.

Nation's Coal Mining Firms Face Wage-Price Squeeze

By LAURANCE F. STUNTZ
Associated Press Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — America's coal mines, pinched between higher wages and price increases too small to pay for them, still hope for better things by the middle of the decade.

But right now the pinch is on. Wages rose 15 per cent in a strike settlement approved by the Phase 2 Pay Board. But the Price Commission limited price rises to 9.5 per cent.

This left a gap to be absorbed by an industry already wrestling with major problems—increased costs to meet new demands for mine safety, lower production and a shortage of both mines and miners.

To meet these problems, new mines are being brought into production, and the coal companies are actively recruiting young men into the business. The industry's economists see a growing demand for their product.

"But the big problem now is recovering the labor contract costs," said an industry spokesman. "We are confident in coal's future if we can break even on finances."

If the break-even is not possible, said Carl E. Bagge, president of the National Coal Association, the pinch will "close some coal mines now operating and destroy the incentive to open new mines which the nation requires to meet its growing needs for energy."

If mines are closed, the present shortage of coal would become worse, and a difficult situation might become critical. There is also a shortage of natural gas, one substitute for coal, and oil costs are rising.

Many in the industry do not object to the higher pay. The operators pointed out—and the wage board agreed—that higher salaries are necessary to attract young men into the industry. Coal mines traditionally have recruited from the families of aging miners but fewer sons followed their fathers into the pits. The result was a steady decrease in the number of miners.

Labor rolls have fallen nearly 75 per cent in the past two decades. In the bituminous industry, there were 425,000 miners in 1948 when mine mechanization began in earnest. The number now is only just over 100,000, and many of these are reaching retirement age.

There has been a slight increase in the past year—perhaps 10,000 to 15,000 men as a result of a stepped-up recruiting campaign.

The $1.5 billion cost of the new labor contract comes on top of an extra expense of $1 billion to meet new federal mine safety standards. Many small mines are having trouble finding the money for the safety provisions enacted by Congress last year.

Extend Fight On Japanese Beetle Spread

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department is digging new battle lines against Japanese beetles by extending federal quarantines into 21 more counties in eight states.

The quarantine order, to go into effect Friday, will regulate interstate shipment of articles which can carry hitchhiking beetles into new areas.

Counties designated for new quarantines are in Georgia, Illinois, Indiana, Kentucky, Michigan, Ohio, South Carolina and Tennessee.

The beetles, among the most destructive insect pests, spread naturally by flying. Consequently, officials said, new quarantine lines must be drawn each year.

Under quarantine rules, items that can carry beetles or their larvae cannot move out of an infested area unless inspected by state or federal plant protection officials. The items include soil, plants with roots, compost, bulbs, tubers and mechanical earth-moving equipment.

Japanese beetles are believed to have entered the United States in plants imported early in the century. They were first noticed in 1916 near Riverton, N.J.

The insects, which are known to attack 275 kinds of trees, shrubs, farm crops and garden plants, now are entrenched in 22 states from Maine to Georgia and west to Illinois, the department says.

Counties included in the new quarantine are: Clark, DeWitt, Delaware, Greene, Hardin, Highland, Logan, Madison, Montgomery, Morrow, Union, Van Wert, Williams and Wyandot.

Quarter-million-ton tankers began delivering crude oil to a new refinery on Cape Breton Island last June.

Ask Damage Suit Dismissal

WASHINGTON (AP)—A federal judge has been asked to dismiss a $2.1 million damage suit filed against Southern Airways following a plane crash last year at Huntington's Tri-State Airport that killed 75 persons.

The suit, filed by Mrs. Elizabeth Pruitt of Russell, Ky., is on behalf of her son, Roger Vanover, one of the victims of the jetliner crash.

The court action alleges negligence on the part of Southern in operation of the charter flight, which killed most of the Marshall University football team and coaching staff.

Mrs. Pruitt filed identical suits in Washington and Louisville, Ky., but the Kentucky case was transferred to a U.S. District Court in Catlettsburg, closer to the plaintiff's home.

Southern has asked that the suit be dismissed because it conducts no business in Kentucky. The airline does, however, have an office here.

Parcel Service Driver Slain; Gunman Sought

CINCINNATI (AP)—Police today sought a gunman who shot to death a United Parcel Service driver Wednesday as he sought to deliver three small packages to an apartment in a housing project in the West End section.

The service delivers items purchased by patrons of downtown department stores.

Marshall Venters, 24, died of two .38-caliber bullet wounds in the abdomen after undergoing emergency surgery at General Hospital.

Witnesses told police the gunman shot Venters down in a walkway and ran away with the packages, which contained a rear view mirror, a refrigerator defroster and a vinyl repair kit.
